Other equally attractive villages, adorned with fountains, churches and unique architecture, are also well worth a visit, such as Argentat, Aubazine, Beau lieu-sur-Dordogne, Donzenac, Pompadour, Treignac, Meymac and Uzerche.

FORTRESSES AND CASTLES

A host of medieval fortresses around the countryside bear witness to the Corrèze's war-torn history. The centuries-old villages of Ventadour, Turenne, Ségur-le-Château, Comborn and Merle, once impregnable strongholds of local lords, boast vestiges of a glorious, romantic and violent past.

MUSEUMS

The rich and diverse collections of the Corrèze's museums and Eco museums explore various periods of history from Neanderthal man to today, via the traditional tanning industry in Bort-les-Orgues, the "black nose" workers at the National Arms Factory Museum in Tulle and the slate quarry workers in Travassac. Art is also on the agenda with Tulle lace, the unique collection of Mortlake tapestries from England at the Musée Labenche in Brive and the gifts given to Jacques Chirac which are housed in the Musée du Président in Sarrazan, contemporary creations at the Meymac art centre...
